THE FIRST ATTEMPTS AT PAPER CURRENCY IN AMERICA

By Donald Kagin, ANA LM-724

With Special Acknowledgement to Eric P. Newman for his assistance.

We are so accustomed to the use of paper money that is hard to realize that in the 17th Century the Colony of Massachusetts Bay issued the first bills of public credit in the Western World. While China presumably had used governmental paper currency over 800 years earlier, and a few experiments were tried in Europe in the 15th and 16th centuries, it is probable that these experiences had little or no effect on the English or the New England colonists of the 1600's.

In surveying the attempts of governments and individuals to furnish a medium of trade through paper emissions, one must necessarily review the evolution of the conception of paper currency.

Paper money, or any written or stamped promise or certificate which passes currently as a means of payment, was introduced in China during the first decade of the ninth century A.D.¹ Around the year 1300 Marco Polo described the Chinese currency as the "means whereby the Great Khan may have, and in fact has, more treasure than all the Kings in the World."² Soon thereafter, the advantages of non-specie currency in some form spread quickly throughout Europe.

As early as 862, Ruric the Goth stamped pieces of leather and used them as money to finance military campaigns. Leather money was also used in England by Edgar, King of Wessex in 970.³ During the siege of Tyre in 1112, Venetian soldiers were issued leather money with the arms of their commander, Doge Michieli. This was the first issuance of promissory notes.⁴ Several subsequent experiments were instigated in Italy, Persia, Japan, France, Norway, and Sicily.

The first issuance of non-legal tender paper currency as we know it is attributed to 17th century English goldsmiths. Because of the uncertain times during the Puritan Revolution (1642-1651), merchants and noblemen would leave their money with the goldsmiths for safekeeping, receiving in exchange the goldsmiths' receipts. These warehouse receipts for precious metal circulated as payment for services and obligations but were not legal tender.

In 1665, during the first Dutch War, Charles II of England issued an Exchequer Order. This new advancement in the sophistication of paper money was a legal tender order that the Exchequer would pay from the fund for certain parliamentary supplies. It was not true paper money, however, because the notes were only transferable by endorsement. When used as loans they bore interest, thereby being a form of investment rather than currency.⁵

The New World also was quite occupied with searching for some sort of fiscal stability. Since the British mercantile system discouraged colonial manufacturing, the American imports far exceeded their exports. This poor balance of payments created a severe scarcity of specie money. For many years the colonists used corn and Indian beads called Wampum as a means of exchange. Even musket bullets circulated as money at one time.⁶

Until 1652, when Massachusetts Bay Colony opened its own mint, there were only four primary ways of paying debts. "Pay" was barter, such as corn or tobacco, at government rates; "money" was Spanish or other foreign coins or wampum; "pay as money" was barter currency at one-third government rates; and "trusting" was an enhanced price on an item to be paid for at a future date. A 6d knife, for example, would cost 12d in pay, 8d in pay as money, and 6d in coin.⁷

It is not clear, but references are made in various documents to the use of some sort of paper money prior to 1652. In a letter to the King stating the reason for establishing a mint, the Massachusetts Council wrote that, "For some years paper bills passed for payment of debts, which were very subject to be lost, rent or counterfeited & other inconveniences."⁸ Since there was no record of any emissions being authorized by the General Court, it is assumed that these "paper bills" must have been private bills of credit which circulated as payment for goods or settlements of balances. It wasn't until 1652 (the same year as the opening of the Massachusetts Mint) that an official proposal for public bills of credit was submitted to the General Court.

In June of 1652, not satisfied with the then existing means for increasing their medium of circulation through coinage, the Massachusetts Council gave serious thought to resorting to paper money:

What hath been thought of by any for raising a Banke or engaging in generall trade or relating to monies in regard of the gadnesse of it . . . will by this means [paper money] be ripened, and things reduced to a more comfortable state, than wee now find.⁹

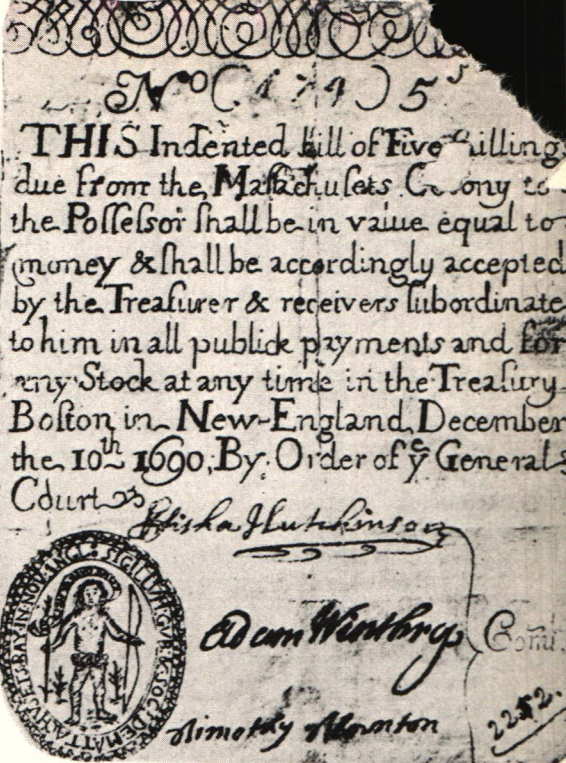

No immediate action was taken, primary interest being centered around new the mint. In 1656, however, an Englishman, John Palmstruch, obtained permission from the King to found a bank. The bank, which at that time was basically an issuance of forms of credit, was at first popular and its obligations passed at a premium. Interest rates were minimal and consequently there were many loans made. This produced a greater demand for the currency and more issuance of notes. Soon there was an excessive supply of the bills and many people became frightened of their worth. A panic resulted and the bank was consequently forced to close.¹⁰

Several ideas for banks in New England were subsequently proposed during the latter half of the 17th century. Even Governor John Winthrop Jr. of Connecticut submitted plans to the Royal Society in 1663 for establishing a bank credited on mortgages of land and property.¹¹ Although all these attempt to establish banks never succeeded, for almost a century they were the source of such severe controversy as to create an irreconcilable split between England and the colonies.

Because of the extreme scarcity of coinage, despite the mint, and the dire need for currency, the General Court ordered on November 3, 1675:

For the prevention of the charge and trouble of transportation of the rates to be leveyed, to the Treasurer of the county, as also matter of convenience, therein appearing, It is ordered, that bills of wages, horses, provisions, & c . . . the Treasurer . . . shall repasse bills to the Constables of such Townes, where seems ad due Vpon the aforesaid accounts.¹² government came before actually issuing public bills of credit which passed for legal tender in 1690.

During the spring of 1682, a pamphlet was published in Boston entitled "Severals Relating to the Fund." The author and originator of this proposal was a Reverend John Woodbridge of Newbury who in 1681 had organized a number of Boston merchants for the purpose of establishing a bank which would furnish a means of transacting business through credits without money. This scheme, first related to Woodbridge by an English gentleman, William Potter, was described as:

A proposal for erecting a FUND of Land; by Authority, or private Persons, in the nature of a Money-Bank; or Merchandise-Lumber, to pass Credit upon, by Bank-Entries; or Bills of Exchange, for great Payments; and Change-bills for running Cash.¹³

"Change-bills," much like the later bills of credit, were soon issued and circulated. As credit was transferred, the amount was noted on the bill, as was done by bankers later on bills of credit. After six months Woodridge wrote that he "had rational Grounds to conclude that it would work itself up into Credit with discreet men."¹⁴ Although a number of people supported the design, the notes soon disappeared and the experiment proved unsuccessful.

A brief but interesting digression should be made here concerning the use of playing cards for money. In September of 1685, the Canadian intendant, Jacques Demuelles, in order to prevent a mutiny by his troops, was frantically trying to raise money. He had received no funds from Paris for eight months, had exhausted his own resources, and was forced to let the troops go without pay for some time. He conceived the idea of writing denominations on the face of playing cards and proclaiming them to be currency. The cards were cut into quarter sections with denominations of 15 sols, 40 sols and 4 francs, each signed by the governor and intendant and bearing the coat of arms of France and Navarre.¹⁵

Although France officially disapproved, the new "money" was quite successful. The troops not only did not mutiny, but the cards came into wide acceptance until they were discontinued in 1759.¹⁶ The success of this experiment could very well have affected the use of paper money by the New England colonies five years later.

Meanwhile, the lack of an adequate currency in Massachusetts Bay and the closing of the mint in 1682 produced further agitation for a standard paper currency. A Massachusetts man, Captain John Blackwell, submitted to the new council in 1684¹⁷ a scheme, "of a Bank of Credit . . . by persons of approved integrity, prudence, and estate in this country, wherein such a foundation is laid for delivering out bills or giving credit on such real estate of lands . . ."¹⁸ On September 27, 1686, a committee of merchants and eminent citizens reported to the council that the proposed bank would be, "very useful and conduceable to the encouraging of trade and estates, increasing of his Majesty's revenues, facilitating the payments thereof, and of other debts and removing the present greatest obstruction thereto."¹⁹

This recommendation was approved by the council which even proposed that the bills should pass as legal tender. On November 9, the council ordered "in answer to Capt. Blackwell's petition be passed under the seal of the government." Governor Dudley in his message gave the following account:

Upon the consideration of the great decay in trade, obstructions to manufactures and commerce in this country, and multiplicity of debts and suits thereupon, principally occasioned by the present scarcety of coyn. And for that it is not visible how the same may be remedied, unless some other secure medium be approved than the species of silver, which very injuriously has been transported into other parts hence . . . that the defects aforesayd may be supplied with Bank Bills, or credit given by persons of estate and known integrity and reputation, which may passe with greater ease and security in all payment of twenty shillings or above, than monies coyned.²⁰

After the approval, Blackwell and others organized a very elaborate company with most of the prominent citizens, including Dudley. Rolling presses were purchased to print bills based "on the security of real and personal estate and imperishable merchandise." Notes in the denomination of at least 20 were probably printed soon after, but for no concrete reason the entire scheme was abandoned in 1688.²¹ Most authorities speculate that Dudley thought it a politically inconvenient time for such a bank.

In a number of ways "Blackwell's Bank" was an important step in the development of currency and banking in America. It was more advanced than the "Fund" since it had protection given by security held by the bank. It was also managed by responsible, prudent, private citizens liable for losses. Not only was this bank secured by company fund, but also by individual merchants — a necessary component in banking. It was not until 1714, however, that another bank was proposed.²³

By 1690, few countries were advanced enough in the use of paper currency to effectively use paper as a legal medium of exchange. The New England colonies, particularly Massachusetts Bay, had been forced by necessity to experiment with various forms of currency. The colonists resorted to barter, beads, foreign coins, and even to minting their own coins. The crowning achievement of the Yankee mind over fiscal instability, however, was the use of paper money.

It was in December that events occurred which led to the Western World's first emission of public paper money. An expedition had been sent by the Massachusetts Bay Colony to capture Quebec for the British, but so much time was taken in preparation that the French had time to prepare a defense which proved fatal to the expedition. Revenue expected from the capture to pay for supplies, salaries, and ships was therefore not forthcoming and the commander, Sir William Phipps, was faced with a possible mutiny. Historian Thomas Hutchinson relates the following:

The government was utterly unprepared for the return of the forces. They seemed to have presumed . . . upon the enemy's treasure to bear the charge of the expedition. The soldiers were upon the point of mutiny for want of their wages. It was utterly impracticable to raise in a few days such a sum of money as would be necessary.²⁴

An attempt was made by Phipps to obtain a loan but this failed.²⁵ A half-hearted try at reopening the mint also proved fruitless. Left with no other alternative, The General Court reasoned and ordered:

Whereas for the maintaining and defending of their Majesties interest against the hostile invasions of their French and Indian enemies . . . this Colony hath necessarily contracted sundry considerable debts . . . through scarcity of money, the want of an adequate measure of commerce . . . to make payment thereof, with what speed they can, (a committee are empowered to make an immediate issue of £7,000 in bills from 5s to £5).²⁶

This first parcel of notes, £7,000, was to be given to creditors who would in turn use them to settle their public payments of excise duties, import and other taxes. These notes were also different from any prior to their emission, since they were redeemable any time for money or other public stock.

At first the bills were generally accepted since they were redeemable for taxes. Soon, however, the notes depreciated and the soldiers found that they could only get 12s to 14s for one pound face value. In order to alleviate this general discounting, credit for the notes was raised 5 per cent just before the time for calling in the taxes. The bills were, therefore, worth more than face value.²⁷

Finding themselves "far short of what is absolutely necessary," the Massachusetts Court authorized a second parcel of notes amounting to £37,000 to be emitted on February 3, 1691. Since the new bills contained the 5 per cent credit, they were better received by the people. The added interest, however, consequently induced more speculation.²⁸

From 1690 until 1750 Massachusetts continued to emit such sums as were needed for the treasury and once in a while to call in by a tax a parcel for cancellation.²⁹ Various amounts of notes were reissued from time to time, but it wasn't until 1702 that there was another general emission.³⁰

Each denomination had its own top

border design and seal which was printed from an engraved copper plate.³¹ Sometimes the printer would put an extra design or two in the ornate border in order to foil counterfeiters. These bills have been said to have 100 times more style than our current paper currency.³² It is not hard to realize why this format as legal tender for public debts was used until 1737.

Since paper money was essentially a new experience there was much reticence among the people to accept the bills. There was, therefore, a need for pamphlets explaining why paper money was economically beneficial. One account sites four advantages of paper currency: that they were (1) durable or if decayed can issue more, (2) light and of easy carriage, (3) unlikely to be counterfeited (this proved incorrect), and, (4) proportioned to the circumstances of the people.³³

Another positive reaction was written by Cotton Mather (under the pseudonym, John Philips) which reasoned:

If neither Silver can be had, nor Corn brought in without loss both to the Government and People, what remains but Accounts, Bills, or such like Paper-pay? And certainly this necessity may (if I mistake not) bring to the whole country no small advantage . . .³⁴

He then goes on to point out that silver coinage in New England (1) is like the water of a swift Running River, always coming, and so fast going away. (2) the paper money will not be carried away from Massachusetts Bay since they won't be accepted elsewhere, and, (3) the credit of the colony will greatly increase.³⁵

Most of these pro-paper pamphlets were written by debtors and speculators. Other classes, however, had much to suffer from paper currency. A number of pamphlets were published which bemoaned how terrible it was that soldiers and widows had to buy things they didn't need in order to get rid of the bills at a discount.³⁶

Regardless of any negative reaction to paper money, the fact remains that beginning with the issuance of 1690, the use of paper currency rapidly became widespread throughout the Western World. The Bank of England was formed in 1694; The Bank of Scotland two years later. Commercial bank experiments resulting in The South Sea Bubble of England and the Mississippi Bubble of France were formed. During the first two decades of the 18th century, a new "boom" in the use of paper money and banking arose in France, England, Holland and Italy, which signaled the gradual submergence of coinage. This was the beginning of the first modern system of interrelated industrial, commercial, capital and money mechanisms in the Western World.

Throughout New England's paper money experience several proposals for stimulating trade were suggested and rejected by the General Court. Among them were attempts at establishing variously funded banks, types of paper currency and even re-establishing the old mint.³⁷ To enough people, however, the system of issuing paper money and recalling the notes through taxes seemed the best available.

The constant "pressure of war and the extreme scarcity of money and the want of other medium of commerce" created the continual need for more paper money. And on November 21, 1702, the legislature voted another £10,000.³⁸ The wording on these new bills was changed from Massachusetts "Colony" to "Province." The most significant distinction concerning these new bills, however, was the fact that the time of their tax redemption levies was postponed.³⁹

As long as the notes were called in soon after their emission there was no appreciable problem in holding their value, but once the bills' retirement was set ahead, the notes were subject to depreciation. Unfortunately, this trend was not curtailed before its effects were fully realized. In 1709 redemption was lengthened to four years; in 1710, five years; 1711, six years.⁴⁰

In 1711 another expedition against Quebec was formed. Since silver and gold were being sent out of the country, new bills were needed to purchase supplies. Close to £50,000 were therefore issued — more than ever before. The economic effects were nearly disastrous.

Prior to this emission, credit was continued despite the constant postponement of tax levies for bills. This was possible since the amount issued was not considerable and the bills had a preference in the Treasury to silver. But in 1711 too many bills were issued, causing silver to be hoarded; "This issue," one author states, "effectively banished all silver and gold by making bills legal tender for debts."⁴¹ "[Therefore]," he went on, "Bills became the only Measure and Instrument by which all private Trade and Dealings were regulated and managed."⁴² The proportion of specie available was, therefore, not great enough to support the value of the notes. Meanwhile, the paper of other colonies⁴³ was being circulated in to citizens based on interests payable annually. But the most numerous and powerful group were those who called for a private bank of credit founded on real estate like the bank proposal of 1686.⁵² This was the essential beginning of the bank controversy which didn't subside until the break with England in 1776.

An Interim meeting of our ANA board of governors was held in Colorado Springs in February. At that time, the activities of our Association since the previous meeting in August, 1972 were reviewed and many new items of ANA business were acted upon. Among these were the authorization of a coin dealer-exhibit or insurance program, as well as a group life insurance program. Details of these plans will be made available to the membership. The board also voted that the 1977 ANA convention be held in Atlanta, Georgia, providing arrangements for suitable hotel accommodations can be finalized.

Of special interest to ANA members was the adoption by the board of a strong stand against those who deal in whizzed coins. ANA members who offer for sale or trade coins represented to be in a higher grade than before being whizzed may face expulsion.

It was also voted that the ANA would take an active part in promoting numismatics through the Merit Badge Program at the two major Scout Jamborees to be held in the United States in the summer of 1973. In this way, it is believed that interest will be stimulated in coin collecting among the thousands of young people attending these nation-wide gatherings. In 1888 Dr. Heath, founder of the ANA, recognized the importance of collecting among young people when he stated on page 1 of the first issue of the American Numismatist: "It is a hopeful sign when the youth of any land turn their attention to the making of collections." I feel that Dr. Heath would be pleased to know that the ANA now has a vigorous program for young collectors, and that approximately 1,000 young numismatists are active ANA junior members.

Many other items of business were acted upon and will be reported in The Numismatist.

It is hoped that February 28, 1973, may prove to be a memorable date for all collectors. On that day the prospects for the passage of a Hobby Protection Bill in the 93rd Congress were increased tremendously when a hearing on this proposed legislation was held in Washington, D.C., by the Sub-Committee on Commerce and Finance of the House of Representatives Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce. Numismatists supporting the proposed legislation included members of the numismatic press, Margo Russell, editor of Coin World and Chet Krause, publisher of Numismatic News; dealers represented by Harvey Stack of Stack's of New York; young numismatists represented by Jeffrey Coopersmith of Washington, D.C., and the ANA by Governor Virgil Hancock and your president. ANA member, E. Ward Russell, represented the antique glass collectors, and other collecting hobbies were also represented. Members of the ANA will be kept informed of further developments concerning Hobby Protection Legislation.

I wish to remind you all that the deadline for submitting nominations for your elected ANA officers in the coming election is April 15.

I also wish to remind you that reservations for your participation in our first ANA European Numismatic Study Tour to London, Amsterdam, Paris and Madrid May 12-28, 1973, should be made as soon as possible.

Information regarding this tour may be found on pages 91-94 of the January, 1973 issue of The Numismatist, or by writing to Garber Travel, 1406 Beacon Street, Brookline, Mass. 02146.

WHISTLER HONORED

A medal honoring James Abbott McNeill Whistler has been issued by the Hall of Fame for Great Americans at New York University. Designed by Stanley Martineau, the medal bears a portrait of Whistler encircled by the trajectory of a rocket exploding about his head. The design was Whistler's own work, "Falling Rocket 1875," which projected him into a legal flare-up with art critic John Ruskin. Ruskin accused Whistler of "flinging a pot of paint in the public's face" and Whistler sued him for libel and won. The reverse shows the serious artist at work on one half and his public frivolities and numerous exchanges with critics is illustrated on the other half. The medal was struck by Medallic Art Company and is available in bronze at $4 each and pure silver at $17.50 each. The silver are limited to 7,500 pieces. The medal may be ordered from the Coin and Currency Institute, Inc., 393 Seventh Avenue, New York, N.Y. 10001.

THE COINAGE OF PORTUGUESE AFRICA

Historical Background

John I, (1385-1433), founder of the dynasty of Aviz, was king of Portugal when Portuguese sailors began to extend their voyages southward along the African coast. His son, Henry, "The Navigator," grand master of the order of the Templars, planned and organized the then beginning discoveries of the New World. The knowledge and the great wisdom preserved by the Templars led to the founding of the first school of modern navigation at Sagres. Among the many scholars was Christopher Colon, (Christopher Columbus), who acquired his knowledge of navigation on Portuguese sail.

By the beginning of the 15th century, a large fleet had been built and when Ceuta had been taken from the Moors, the first overseas coinage was struck there in 1415. Ten years later the island of Madeira was discovered and subsequently populated. During the reign of Alphonso V, (1438-81), the whole length of the African West Coast had been explored. The silver grossi struck in his name at the Porto Mint, bears the title of "king of Portugal and Africa."

West Africa was commonly called Guiné, which name appears on the coins of John II, (1481-95), and his successors. The first settlements of Angola date back as far as 1482; and, in 1488 Portuguese sailors found their way around the Cape of Good Hope.

Just a few years later under the reign of Manuel I, (1495-1521), the famous voyages of Vasco da Gama, Magalhães and Cabral took the Portuguese caravells around the world. In India and Malacca regular mints were put in operation (1511), but it wasn't until 1693 when the first coins for Angola (Guiné) were struck at the Porto Mint.

Various types of primitive money have been in use for ages in Angola and other parts of Africa. These are fully described in the standard work by A.H. Quiggin. For our purpose it might be useful to mention the "mat money" (small straw mats) in Anglo called

"Pano," pictured on plate 2 in Quiggin. Pano means fabric, textile. It was worth 5 Reis, 10 Panos equal to one Macuta or 50 Reis. Thus, Macuta became the unit of legal tender and a V (Reis) coin was called Pano. Nevertheless, the first modern coins minted for Angola were of the normal Portuguese type.

Angolan collectors observe that among the finds actually encountered in Luanda and other more important places in Angola, no coins of the second issue (1715-49) came to light, but many X (Reis) pieces dated 1737 are found in quantities. Of the first issue (1693-99) only coins dated 1694 and 1697 are found in Angola and it is believed that most of all the other coins before 1762 were shipped to Brazil.

Angolan coins generally are found in the lower grades of preservation, coins grading better than very fine should be considered scarce. Many die varieties exist. Specialists count the purls of the crown, the leaves of the wreath and the beads around the value on the copper coins. However, one major variety should be mentioned; the so-called high or low crown on the coins of Mary I. It's more the style than the actual size which makes the difference. Similar differences regarding the style of crowns can be noted on coins of John Prince Regent, but less noticeable.

Another classic variety is the Macuta 1814, with or without the zodiac on the globe. The coin without is the common one. The writer has heard about other dates than the listed ones, but so far all these have been proved as altered dates or misreadings. However, coins other than the listed ones may come to light and any advice will be appreciated.

A few pieces included in the following catalog have been reported by collectors but have not been examined by the writer. They are: III, 1696; no. 8 — 1755; no. 16 — 1784; no. 19 — 1786; and no. 21 — 1789.

All copper coins have plain edge; all silver coins have engrailed edge.

The numbers 17 and 26 mentioned in Craig do not exist.

PATTERNS (or TRIAL) PIECES were struck in lead, all dated 1770; 12-10-8-1-½ MACUTAS and of the 6 MACUTAS only the reverse is known. Of the PANO a trial in lead was struck in 1771. Another pattern 12 MACUTAS 1807 is known, struck in lead also. The copper coins of Michael I dated 1831 (sic) Craig 71-74 are patterns, no regular issue followed. These are of the types and weights of nos. 29-32. Finally, we know of a copper 20 Reis coin struck in the name of LUIS I. in 1886 and a 50 Centavos coin of 1927 struck in copper, as Y21, reeded edge.

The republican issues are widely covered by Yeoman the Guidebook by Robert Harris. Only a few additions should be noted: Y14 was struck also in 1924 and Y25 in 1954. Of Y26, the dates 1963 and 65 exist and Y27 was also struck in 1967.

Counterstamps and Observations

In 1808, when the Napoleonic troops invaded the Iberian peninsula, the Portuguese court moved to Brazil and the Prince Regent John installed his throne in Rio de Janeiro. One of the first official acts in the New World dealt with the money shortage and by decree of April 18, 1809, the counterstamping of Brazilian and Angolan coins was ordered. The copper coins were collected, punch-marked and reissued at double value. The Brazilian silver was treated in a different way and no Angolan silver was countermarked.

The irons used in Angola were of a barbaric style and more than a hundred different punch marks are known, probably not all of them genuine.

According to the new values, the coins of the seventh issue are of half weight compared to the foregoing standard. The issue of 1814 was mostly struck on new planchets of much lower weight than indicated by the new situation. Later, in 1814 and the following years, larger quantities of copper coins were shipped from Angola to Rio where they were overstruck and then returned. Also, many Brazilian copper coins, roughly sizable, were overstruck for Angola. Even old dies, probably brought from Lisbon after 1808, were in use for overstriking, producing curious items like one-Macuta coins bearing the date 1770 struck on Brazilian XL (Reis) coins of Mary I and Peter III, whose rule started in 1777. Quite a few of these and other funny items exist; vide Grogan no. 1014. The combinations are multiples and this explains the large range of weights among the same denominations.

Countermarked coins of the seventh issue exist. There are various opinions concerning this fact. Some people speak about a second period of counterstamping and dates are mentioned as late as 1837 or even later. There is no logical way to explain the existence of these punchmarks since the new value is already expressed by the denomination of the proper coin. So why should a two Macutas piece need an extra stamp on it to show that it is worth two Macutas? I would guess that in order to avoid confusion, such pieces were stamped after 1816 to make them look like the other ones of same size because most of the natives were not able to read. And there were more old counterstamped coins in use than new ones of the seventh issue (1814-16).

1973 Uncirculated Coin Sets Available

Bureau of the Mint policy is to produce and sell two types of coin sets each year — uncirculated and proof. Persons ordering 1973 uncirculated sets will receive an order card for both 1974 proof and uncirculated sets when they become available.

Uncirculated sets contain coins manufactured for general circulation purposes. The best uncirculated coins are used in the sets, but the Mint cannot guarantee to furnish coins entirely free of blemishes. Each set contains a $1, and a 50, 25, 10, 5, and 1 cent piece from the Denver Mint and coins of the same denominations from the Philadelphia Mint and a 1 cent piece from the U.S. Assay Office at San Francisco.

The $6 per set price includes first class registered mail fee. The maximum number of sets per order is five.

Requests for uncirculated coin sets should be directed to the Bureau of the Mint, 55 Mint Street, San Francisco, California 94103, and should be accompanied by remittance in full in the form of a U.S. Postal Money Order, or a check made payable to the Bureau of the Mint. Please do not send cash.

Acceptance of all orders is contingent upon the Mint's ability to meet the demand and if demand exceeds supply, a cut-off date will be established beyond which all orders will be returned. Orders are processed in sequence according to date of receipt, and filled as soon as possible thereafter. However, there may be a wait of from six to eight months for the ordered set.

Once an order has been placed, the person placing the order will automatically receive application forms for all future items issued by the Bureau of the Mint.

Receipt of any order and payment will not constitute an acceptance of any order. Payments accompanying orders will be deposited in the Treasury for safekeeping only, pending acceptance of any order, or refund of the payment. Uncirculated coin orders are not subject to cancellation by the purchaser.

A Numismatist Is Born

For five of the five-and-a-half years his mother has worked at the American Numismatic Association headquarters in Colorado Springs, John Suthers wasn't impressed. As far as he was concerned, it could have been a grain elevator or a dry goods store — the ANA was just another place to work.

When he left home for Notre Dame in pursuit of higher education, his mother paid his dues in the ANA for a couple of reasons. One was so that he would get The Numismatist. As the Executive Director's secretary she didn't have time to write Son John every day, so she felt like The Numismatist would add something to his mailbox once a month and remind him, in a rather circuitous manner, of his Dear Old Mom. "Mom," John is reported to have said on at least one occasion, "I don't know why you keep sending me that magazine. I never read any of it. Most of the time I don't even take it out of the envelope."

She didn't tell John about the other reason right away. She wanted to surprise him and take him with her to the ANA convention. The Young Numismatist program offered some terrific opportunities for junior members lucky enough to get to a convention and Mrs. Suthers wanted Son John to benefit.

Convention time came and John accompanied his mother to Washington, D.C. He had a capital time on the many tours and taking part in the other YN activities. That was all. The convention proceedings seemed a bit silly to Son John. He didn't understand all the excitement over old money. "How can it turn them on?" seemed to be his attitude, "when it couldn't even turn on a coin-op washer in the dorm."

But the YN tours and other functions were sufficient and such a successful time was had by John and his mother that it was decided he would accompany her to the next convention, the one in New Orleans.

Another successful year at Notre Dame passed with unopened Numismatists marking off the months in a pile on the bookcase. Then, after several weeks of working at his summertime career as a landscape technician, it was time for that trip to the Crescent City — Bourbon Street, Preservation Hall and Jackson Square. New Orleans — "The Birth of the Blues."

Pretty early on that first day, John arose, ate a leisurely breakfast and looked forward to the midmorning beginning of his New Orleans experiences. (He was going to take some kind of tour of the French Quarter, I believe it was). There was about an hour to use before tour time, so John decided to drop by the ANA tables and chat with his Mom for a bit. They decided when and where they'd meet after the tour and they were discussing light topics when John nodded toward the bourse room and asked why it was that all the people were going through those doors. She told him and since he still had some free time and nothing better to use it on, he sauntered right in.

John was walking around, looking at the many dealers' wares with a casual eye, when he happened to see a Lincoln Cent on one of the tables. Somehow — it's always difficult to explain how these things happen — the dealer and John got into an easy conversation about the cent. Not planning to actually spend any money but feeling a bit obligated to show a little genuine interest, since the dealer had been so obliging, John said something to the effect of, "If someone was interested in buying a penny like this one, about how much would he have to pay for it?"

The answer turned out to be a whole lot less than John had presumed. He had always just taken for granted that coin collecting was expensive — not that buying just one coin would classify him as a coin collector. That's pretty silly.

"I believe I'll just take it," John said, surprising himself much more than the dealer. The dealer, an experienced man, no doubt recognized the symptoms — a rather glazed expression about the eyes and a "silly" sort of overall contented expression.

John walked away from that table to the next one, where he asked to see some Lincoln Cents, then to another table. He wasn't thinking of Bourbon Street, Preservation Hall or Jackson Square. New Orleans — The Birth of a Numismatist.

As the week progressed, John added a second cent to the first, then a third and a fourth and by the time the convention was over, he had a collection of a dozen or so Lincoln Cents.

The day after he and his mother returned from the convention, John spent most of his time making the rounds of Colorado Springs coin shops. In one shop, while he was looking around, a lady entered with a mint error of some kind — a Lincoln Cent. She asked the proprietor what it was and what it was worth. He told her that it wasn't too uncommon and might be worth maybe a dollar, but he didn't particularly want to purchase it. John, recognizing the knock of opportunity, immediately informed the lady that he was a collector and that he'd pay her a buck for the prize.

A few days after he was back in college, his mother got a letter from John. Well, not exactly a letter. It was in an envelope just like he uses for his letters but when this one was opened, all that could be extracted was a copy of John's want list. There have been other letters; one contained a complaint that his Numismatists seemed to be arriving later than they should. He asked if headquarters could look into the matter for him. Another letter, his most recent, came addressed to the Executive Director.

"Dear Mr. Rochette:" the letter began. "As a member of the ANA (69233) I would like to nominate the following persons for the Board of Governors and for President . . ."

A medal has been struck to commemorate the entry of the Italians into Rome. It is to be distributed to all who have rendered meritorious services in obtaining the independence, liberty, and unity of Italy. The King is to receive the medal in gold, General Garibaldi in silver, and deputies, senators, and others in copper. Not more than one thousand are to be struck. American Journal of Numismatics, 1873.

FEATURING FAKES

Mission accomplished!

And that's why I shall not seek nor accept nomination for re-election to ANA's board of governors.

My first and only entry on an ANA ballot was in 1971, and I'm still most grateful for the heavy support I received from the rank-and-file of the ANA membership, despite the then loud yells, "Hancock is ruining the coin business!"

It's been extremely gratifying to have been a member of ANA's board of governors these past two years, a board which has had the courage to launch ANA upon a new course of action for the effective protection of the collector.

This board, which goes out of office in August at ANA-Boston, has had the courage to:

1. Amend ANA by-laws to enable ANA to expel anyone who . . . even unknowingly . . . sells or trades on three occasions a counterfeit or altered coin.
2. Adopt a directive to enable ANA to expel anyone who . . . even unknowingly . . . sells or trades on three occasions an over-graded coin.
3. Amend ANA by-laws to enable ANA to expel anyone who advertises a "whizzed" coin as being of a higher grade than was the coin prior to whizzing. EXAMPLE: If a coin was "EF" before it was whizzed to make it look like a shiny "AU" piece, it must be advertised as "EF-whizzed."

This present board also has had the opportunity of opening the Washington, D.C., office of the ANA Certification Service (ANACS) to which anyone in the world may send a coin to get an authoritative answer to his question, "Is my coin genuine?" And, if the coin is genuine, to have it registered and its "pedigree" started.

Incidentally, to keep the record straight, it was ANA's Herb Bergen who for two years had knocked on the proper government doors in Washington and had obtained the enthusiastic support of the U.S. Treasury Department and of the U.S. Mint, without which ANACS could not have succeeded.

And it was 'way back in 1967 that the executive council of the Organization of International Numismatists (OIN) voted to launch a drive for $50,000 with which to open an authentication lab, and asked ANA and the Professional Numismatists Guild (PNG) to join the drive . . . which they immediately did.

The three trustees, Abe Kosoff for PNG, John Jay Pittman for ANA, and "yours truly" for OIN, operating at their own considerable expense as "ANAT" (American Numismatic Authentication Trust), finally crossed the $50,000 mark at the 1970 ANA-St. Louis convention when Abe, almost single-handedly, twisted arms and collected over $15,000 from the dealers in the bourse room.

Today, whizzed coins are beginning to disappear from the bourse tables, dealers are signing up for the "counterfeit" seminars, and Charles Hoskins is receiving coins for authentication at ANACS, Box 87, Ben Franklin Station, Washington, DC 20044. (See ANACS' fee schedule elsewhere in this issue.)

Finally, true to his promise made to me this past Christmas week by Congressman Harley Staggers, Chairman of the House Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce, an early public hearing on the "Hobby Protection Act" was called by Congressman John Moss, Chairman of the Sub-Committee on Commerce and Finance, for February 28 in Washington, D.C.

We presented six witnesses, each of whom did a superlatively effective job . . . Jeffrey Coopersmith, Chester Krause, John Jay Pittman, Margo Russell, Harvey Stack, and yours truly.

Following our testimony, Committee member Congressman Bob Eckhardt is preparing a strengthened revision of the "Hobby Protection Act" which in a few weeks then will be acted upon by the Committee. The Act will require COPY to be incused into one surface of all reproductions, replicas, or counterfeits offered for sale or trade (excluding pieces provably manufactured prior to 1850), and will permit a "class action" suit to be filed by any victim who is sold a reproduction not bearing the incused COPY.

Yes, mission accomplished . . . and my sincere thanks to you all!!!

About the two coins seen on these two pages . . .

At the top of the opposite page is one of the many counterfeit 1866 gold 20 pesos of the Second Mexican Empire under Maximiliano.

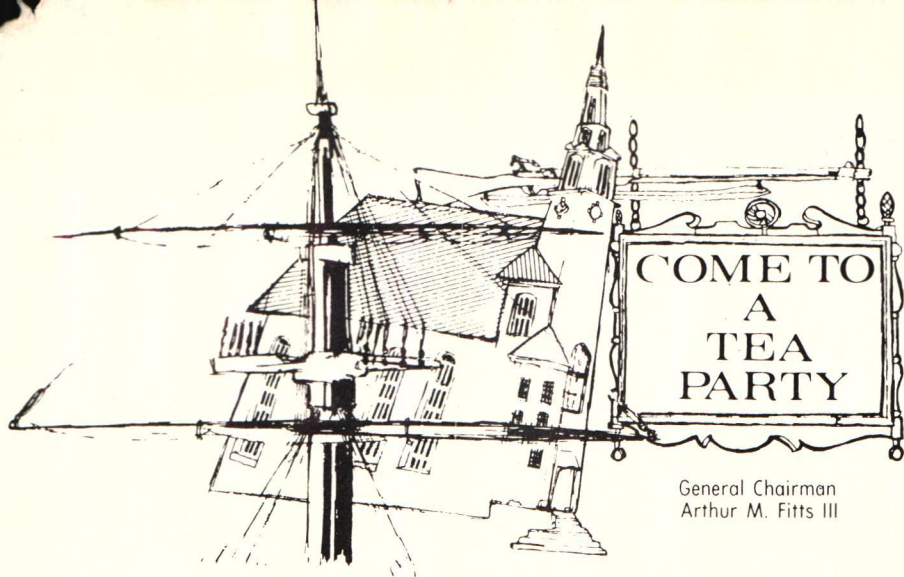

I've seen exactly three genuine Maximiliano 20 pesos pieces in seven years, and three times that many cast counterfeits. If you have a "20 pesos gold Max" you'd better send it to ANACS . . . and get the news, be it good or bad.

At the top of this page you'll see the coin . . . a cast counterfeit "real de a ocho" ("pillar dollar") of 1741, ensayador M.F., Mexico City mint . . . which resulted in the expulsion of one ANA member.

He'd sold counterfeits on more than the three occasions required for ANA board action under this board's new "get tough" by-laws.

The expelled seller insists that he never knowingly has sold a counterfeit, but I hold that ANA members must not be exposed to a seller who can't tell a counterfeit when he sees one!

Don't you agree?

A CONVENTION + COINS + COMFORT = BOSTON '73

Headquarters for the 82nd Anniversary Convention of the American Numismatic Association is the modern Sheraton-Boston Hotel. A major attraction in Boston's outstanding convention complex, the Prudential Center, the completely air-conditioned Sheraton-Boston is ideally located and equipped to cater to your every need during your stay in Boston.

Attractively decorated with innovative uses of the traditional red, white and blue, the Sheraton-Boston is designed to make your stay pleasant and comfortable. There are 1,000 rooms here, nearly all of which will have been freshly redecorated before your August 23 arrival. An unique feature is the Sheraton Towers: here the rooms and suites provide extraordinary service and comfort. There is even a separate registration area and lounge on the 29th floor of this "hotel within a hotel" for those who have reserved accommodations here. And there is ample parking in the basement garage for all registered guests at the hotel at no additional charge.

Excellent dining is assured in the four restaurants. The Pavilion Coffee Shop offers quick and efficient dining throughout the day; the Cafe Riviera affords Continental dining; the Falstaff Room features hearty English fare, and a sandwich buffet at noon; and the Kon-Tiki Ports is noted for its excellent Polynesian drinks and dishes. There are also three lounges whose styles range from quiet intimacy to cabaret entertainment into the wee hours of the morning.

A significant feature of all ANA Conventions is the opportunity for member clubs and societies to meet privately; for many organizations this will be the only occasion when such meetings can be arranged during the year. At the Sheraton-Boston Hotel there are 23 conference rooms available, and many of your hours are likely to be spent in one or another of them. Facilities range from rooms seating 12 for a board meeting, to the grand ballroom area, with a capacity of 2,500, where the auction, Educational Forum, and ANA general meetings and award meeting will be held. A further attraction of these function rooms is the fact that luncheons, dinners and refreshments may be arranged. All these areas are accessible throughout the convention and not limited to the opening and closing hours of the bourse and exhibit area.

The Convention Hotel

For most conventioners, the bourse area is the center of attraction. In Boston this August you will find the biggest bourse ever: over 170 dealers offering collectors a tremendous variety and range of coins, medals, tokens, paper money — the works. You will be visiting a 60,000 square foot hall of the John B. Hynes Veterans Auditorium.

In the same hall, will be the exhibit area; do no fail to view this highly significant purpose of the convention — the advancement of knowledge in numismatics. As in the past, several hundred cases of rare, choice, beautiful and important material will be on display, much of it competitively; here is a rare opportunity to see what others enjoy collecting and pieces which you would like to put in your own cabinet. To complete the exhibits you will again find expertly-staffed demonstrations provided through the generosity of the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, the Bureau of the Mint, and the United States Post Office. Access to the air-conditioned Hynes is direct from the Hotel, a significant contribution to your continued comfort and security during the convention.

Still within the hotel complex are a myriad of stores and shops under the arcades of the Prudential Center. Included are Lord & Taylor, Saks Fifth Avenue, barber and beauty shops, a florist, druggist, three stockbrokerages, two banks, several airline ticket offices, and many others. Beyond the confines of "the Pru" are many more, including a three-theatre complex just across the street. For exercise and relaxation you can dive into the hotel's lanai sur-your host committee, whatever you can provide for them. A busy, growing city, Boston will welcome you this August. Your host committee is proud of the facilities available to you, and will be pleased to accommodate your needs during your stay. Why not register now?

WILL YOU PRE-REGISTER?

By pre-registering for the ANA 82nd Anniversary Convention you will be doing yourself a favor as well as improving the efficiency with which your host committee can expedite your arrival. All pre-registrants will find their packets of ribbons, medals, tickets and guides ready for them.

ANA Board Meets in Colorado Springs

Whizzing problems and Scout Jamborees were among topics acted upon during a five-day session beginning Feb. 18 when the American Numismatic Association Board of Governors, John Jay Pittman presiding, met in Colorado Springs, the Association's home and headquarters city.

Also in attendance were Vice President Virginia Culver, Governors Eva Adams, Grover C. Criswell, Kenneth L. Hallenbeck, Virgil Hancock, George D. Hatie, Eldridge Jones and Glenn B. Smedley, Executive Director Edward Rochette, Legal Counsel Ellis Edlow, and Treasurer William C. Henderson.

Active steps were taken by the board to protect ANA members against whizzed coins, following a proposal made at the ANA Convention last August. At the New Orleans Convention, Ray Byrne, previously appointed chairman of a whizzing committee by President Pittman reported on the whizzing problem.

The board's resolution reads:

"The advertising or offering for sale or trade of any coin which has been whizzed, or which is represented to be of a higher or more nearly perfect condition than was the coin prior to its being whizzed, shall be deemed unethical conduct, prejudicial to the welfare of the association and may be cause for expulsion."

The resolution clearly distinguishes between cleaned and whizzed coins.

"A cleaned coin," the resolution defines, "is one from which paint, dirt, grit, carbon and/or tarnish — but NOT any metal — has been removed. A whizzed coin is one from which metal has been moved — or removed — by one or more means, such as graving, acid treatment, buffing, burnishing, sand blasting, vapor honing, or whisking with a brush of brass or other metal."

It is stipulated in the resolution that "Nothing in this directive shall prohibit the advertising or offering for sale of any whizzed coin which shall be advertised accurately as to the coin's condition prior to its being whizzed, the said stated pre-whizzed condition to be followed by the word 'Whizzed.' Example: If prior to whizzing, a coin was a true Extremely Fine, the coin may be advertised as EF, Whizzed."

Always concerned with interesting more juniors in numismatics, the ANA board decided that the Association will participate in the two major Scout Jamborees this year. ANA representatives will be at Jamboree East, set for Aug. 3-9 in Moraine State Park near Pittsburgh, Pa., and at Jamboree West, Aug. 1-7 at Farragut State Park in northern Idaho.

About 70,000 Scouts are expected to attend the Jamborees and ANA participation will expose them to the delights of numismatics.

Details of a new insurance plan for coin dealers were unveiled at the board meeting. The plan will appeal to dealers who have been experiencing difficulties in securing insurance protection for their coin stocks. It is expected that the details, accepted by the Board, will be presented within a short time to ANA member-dealers. Rate advantages were described as comparable to those offered by the ANA individual member insurance plan.

Atlanta's bid for the 1977 ANA Convention was accepted by the Board. Dates have not been firmed for that Convention. The Georgia site was picked above other cities — Detroit, St. Louis, Honolulu, Denver and Memphis — offering facilities for the convention. The ANA last convened in Atlanta in 1961.

Board approval was given a Professional Numismatist Guild (PNG) day to be held on the day before the official Convention opening, Wednesday, Aug. 22. This event will be restricted to PNG members and their clients.

The 1973 ANA Convention in Boston will be the Association's first over-the-weekend convention. This year's convention will open on Thursday, Aug. 23, and conclude with a banquet on the evening of Monday, Aug. 27.

The deadline for clubs to secure life membership in the ANA was extended from March 31 to May 31 by the Board. Smaller clubs that wish to participate will be permitted to make payments over a year totalling the $500 club life membership fee. After the May 31 deadline, the fee will go to $1,000.

The Board acted to open a classified advertising section in The Numismatist.

This service will allow members the opportunity to trade or sell small amounts of material. Prices, deadlines and other information will be printed in the May issue of The Numismatist and current plans are to begin the classified ad section in the July issue.

Additional information on the Interim Board Meeting will be found in the May issue of The Numismatist. A full report was not available in time to meet April issue deadlines.

SENATOR DOMINICK VISITS ANA

U.S. Senator Peter Dominick, R-Colorado, author of the bill that resulted in the 40 per cent silver Eisenhower dollar, recently visited the American Numismatic Association Headquarters in Colorado Springs. The Senator came to headquarters at the invitation of John Jay Pittman, ANA president, to see a collection of modern silver coins on loan to the ANA Museum from The Silver Institute. Pittman, aware of Dominick's interest in silver, visited the Senator's Washington office to extend the invitation to headquarters.

"Ninety per cent silver coins look so much better than 40 per cent," the Senator commented when looking at the recent issues from all over the world. "But I just couldn't get the 90 per cent through."

Dominick also is interested in gold and has authored a bill that includes provisions for easing the current restrictions on private ownership of gold.

"My bill is in again this year," he said.

The Senator said that another gold bill has been authored by Senator James A. McClure, R-Idaho, but Senators Mike Mansfield, D-Montana, and Hugh Scott, R-Pennsylvania, are backing the Dominick bill and that "may give it some leverage," Dominick said.

He said that the U.S. Department of Treasury is against his gold bill, but he indicated that nothing is unusual about that.

"It is possible," he said, "that if we show that we do not intend to use gold to back the dollar — and we can't afford to at this point or we would lose all of our gold — we might at least get hearings this year."

The Senator doesn't expect the battle to get his bill passed will be an easy or brief one.

"It took five years to get the government out of the silver business," he said. "It may take longer to get this gold bill through."

The Silver Institute Collection of Contemporary Silver Coins contains 33 different issues from 26 countries. Also included in the exhibit is a 100-ounce ingot of .999 Fine Silver made from ore mined at Cripple Creek, Colorado.

The exhibit was brought to the ANA headquarters by D.M. Davies of The Silver Institute. Among those attending the opening of the exhibit was Charles Schwab, president of Golden Cycle Corporation which is reopening old mines in Cripple Creek.

The Silver Institute Collection briefly demonstrates visually a few recent developments in numismatics. For the hobbyist, contemporary silver coinage is interesting when a new date appears on a familiar coin. Such is the case with the 1972 South African 1 Rand specimen on display. Also of interest are reappearances of designs that have been used in other metals or with other denominations. An example in this collection is the French 10 Franc piece from the Paris Mint.

The collector interested in the science of coinage is impressed by clean, sharp and beautifully finished specimens from modern mints. The Royal Canadian Mint's production of the Jamaica 10 Dollar coin is an example of precision engineering. The study of metal alloys and minting machinery used in striking coins and medals is a field for specialization. A result of the skillful application of metallurgical knowledge and fine machinery is the Bahamas 2 Dollar coin from The Franklin Mint.

Numismatists interested in coins and medals as an art form will find in this exhibit many specimens that have been exceptionally well sculpted. One example is the heroic-style sculpture in the portrait on the Bulgarian 5 Leva. An artful, simple, clean design is used by the German Democratic Republic on its 20 Mark issue commemorating the 15th century artist, Lucas Cranach. A winged dragon on the coin is adapted from the symbol that Cranach used as a signature on his paintings. The Israeli 10 Pound specimens are attractive examples of modern design as it can be applied to coins and medals.

All numismatists are aware of the connection between their hobby and the study of history. In this collection are commemoratives of a few historic events that have affected the entire train of our Western Culture. The Turkish 50 Lira piece (that bears a beautifully sculpted portrait in extremely fine detail) recalls the founding of the Seljuk Empire in the Middle East 900 years ago, the defeat of the Byzantines and the consolidation of power over the Eastern Mediterranean. Later in history, the Middle Eastern power was threatening Western Europe, but was stopped and turned back in the Battle of Lepanto in 1571. When the greatest war in history ended in 1945, several European countries were liberated from oppression; both the Netherlands and Norway have celebrated the silver anniversary of their liberation by minting issues shown in the exhibit. And Dwight D. Eisenhower, commander of the Allied Forces in World War II, is honored in the United States commemorative Dollar.

Numismatics embraces the collection of topical items and for the sports lovers, the Silver Institute Collection shows three coins from Finland, Panama and the German Federal Republic celebrating regional and world-wide athletic contests.

Topical collecting can get pretty esoteric and humorous. One numismatist reportedly specializes in coins and medals bearing portraits of people wearing glasses. In this exhibit, he will find the 1969 Indian 10 Rupee coin honoring Mahatma Gandhi, complete with spectacles.

ANA to Participate in Scout Jamborees

The American Numismatic Association will participate in the Scout Jamborees scheduled for two locations this year. Jamboree East, set for August 3 through 9, will be in Moraine State Park, Pennsylvania. Jamboree West will be held August 1 through 7 in Farragut State Park, Idaho.

A feature of this year's jamborees will be a merit badge midway where the boys can see something about each of the many merit badges they may earn. The ANA plans to have two adults and an exhibit at each of the jamborees. Members interested in participating in one of the jamborees may contact Young Numismatist Chairman, Kenneth L. Hallenbeck, Jr., 1141 West Lexington Ave., Fort Wayne, Indiana 46807. Part of the cost can be paid by the Association.

CENTURY OLD NOTES

Letters from Members

Mail Problems

I received the January issue of The Numismatist today. (Jan. 24) The letter from Fred Wyatt on page 52 provoked me into writing this.

I have not yet received my December 1972 issue. I wrote you about it and requested replacement but have not seen it. My request for a duplicate was dated Dec. 29, and I would not be at all surprised if you haven't received my letter.

The Post Office really set some kind of record for the worst service in the World this past December:

A letter, insured, was postmarked to me from Littleton, NH. on Dec. 8, and notice was not placed in my box until some time after Jan. 3. The notice was dated Jan. 3, but I looked at my box on Jan. 3, Jan. 4, and Jan. 6. This shows that the service was very slow and that the local Post Office was not very careful in dating those things it must date.

Today, I received a letter at my place of business showing a postmark date of Dec. 12. In our office, we are receiving mail every day without postmarks, and with uncanceled stamps. During 1972 the Post Office seems to have decided that omitting postmarks on first-class mail will conceal what seems to be deliberate delays.

There are rumblings and rumors that the clerks are unhappy and don't care what happens anymore. If this keeps on, we are headed for a catastrophic breakdown in our communications system.

It is time that conditions such as these I have pointed out were brought to the attention of Congress.

I suggest that you set up a method for delivering all letters of this type to Mr. Edlow (Ellis Edlow, ANA legal counsel). When, or if, he receives the letters, he can walk them over to Congress faster than the mails.

John J. Gabriel,
ANA 73100

Mr. Gabriel's suggestion has some merit; however, if Mr. Edlow took time to deliver complaints about the mail service to Congress, he would have little time for anything else. Congress is aware of the mail problems and, according to Senator Peter Dominick, R-Colorado, a recent visitor to ANA headquarters, there is a study going on in the Senate to find out if the problems are due to equipment, management or what.

"Everyone's having problems," the Senator said. "The system on packages is not working. I understand that they are going to scrap the faulty equipment and start over. It has been costing more for less service."

Senator Dominick said that there currently are two bills in for authority for private enterprise to put in a system, which would result in two competing services. There have been no hearings on these bills yet, the Senator said, but he assured us that the government is looking at the problem both ways – improving the existing service or allowing a competing mail service.

In the meantime, we at headquarters continue to meet our deadlines and get the magazines out on time. Then, when we get letters from members who, a month later, have not received their Numismatists, we send out a second copy addressed to them. We also send out letters to the Post Offices serving the magazine-less members and ask them to help us improve the service to ANA members.

While on the subject of mail problems, another point should be brought up. Many magazines are returned to headquarters each month with lost labels. We have no way of knowing who these were sent to unless we get a letter from a member who hasn't received his Numismatist. So please write us when, after a reasonable wait, you have no magazine. (A reasonable wait, in view of the current mail service, would be about a month).

And one other thing. Please be sure to contact us when you change addresses so that we will know where to send your magazine.

Grading Series Praised

After reading Richard Long's article in the January issue, I couldn't wait to read the February issue. Mr. Long has certainly "got it all together" and I hope that the other members of the ANA, the dealers throughout the world, and anyone who isn't a member, get a chance to read these articles. I am anxiously waiting for the March issue and those succeeding . . .

One noted part in Article I, was the way to help stop overgrading by sending possible overgraded pieces to Ed Rochette, the Executive Director. I never knew of this service before . . .

The first three installments of Richard Long's grading series, "A Common-Sense Approach to Grading," appeared in the January, February and March issues. The next installment is scheduled for the May issue.

FRANCE

Fleurs de Coins

Chief among the eight denominations making up the French metallic currency system being struck at the Paris Mint is the 10 franc silver coin, le Peuple Hercule, by Augustin Dupré. It is the last year this coin will be struck.

The Paris Mint offers numismatic sets of the fleurs de coins quality to be purchased on subscription by collectors for $11 per set. The price includes all charges and postage by registered surface mail.

In accordance with the definition of their quality characteristics, the coin making up these sets are struck with new, polished dies, at reduced rate, apart from the industrial channel of production, on selected blanks that have been treated for brilliance.

Subscriptions will be received until Sept. 30, 1973. However, the Mint reserves the right to reduce or refuse orders if the fixed quotas are reached before that date. Deliveries will be made beginning March 15, 1973, in the sequence subscriptions are received. Orders are to be accompanied by a certified bank check, money order or postal transfer made payable to M. l'Agent Comptable de la Monnaie, 11, quai de Conti, 75270 Paris Cedex 06, France (Account No. 9063-38 Paris).

GREAT BRITAIN

The Sixpence

The sixpence will continue to be legal tender at least for another year. Its future will be reviewed again in 1974.

The Labour Government decided that the sixpence would remain legal tender for at least two years after Decimalization Day, but the announcement on April 20, 1970, came too late for those major retailers and machine users who wished to do so to change training and other preparations based on the assumption that the coin would have no place in the decimal system. The present Government confirmed the two-year trial period in a parliamentary reply on Nov. 3, 1970.

The trial period ends Feb. 15, and the Royal Mint has undertaken a survey of the views of representative bodies and the general public. Because the coin is not widely employed by shopkeepers and others in change giving, its use has declined very sharply since Decimalization Day. There now are only 330 million sixpences outside the Mint compared with 1,900 million then, and many of this reduced total are not in active circulation. However the mint's survey showed that there is anxiety in some quarters that withdrawal of the sixpence at the present time could increase inflationary pressures, and although most of the representative organizations who replied were in favor of abolition, almost all the 4,260 members of the public who sent their views to the Mint wanted to see the sixpence retained.

Millennium Sets

The Royal Mint of Great Britain is continuing to fulfill orders from North America for its Millennium Proof Sets for the time being.

Continuing demand for these last of the old British coinage ever to be struck has been so great that the Mint reviewed its production schedule to see if additional orders could be filled and found that it could do so for an additional period. A public announcement will be made before production is halted.

The number of sets is struck in accordance with the number of orders received. To date, nearly 185,000 sets have been ordered by Americans and Canadians through the Royal Mint Numismatic Bureau in Washington. All

SWEDEN

North American orders are sent there for filling by post. Several thousands are being received each week.

The sets were offered in the U.S. and Canada beginning in the Spring of 1972. Each contains eight coins of proof quality and a medallion with the crest of the Royal Mint.

Coins in the sets are the last to be made of the system of coinage which served England and the United Kingdom for more than 1,000 years. The coins never will be struck again after fulfillment of the orders for the proof sets because the coinage of the realm was changed to a decimal system of different coins in 1971.

Orders will continue to be received and processed through the North American Bureau of the Royal Mint, P.O. Box 700, Benjamin Franklin Station, Washington, D.C. 20044. Price per set is $8 plus 75 cents for postage and handling. There is a limit of three sets per person, but additional sets may be purchased as gifts if they are for delivery to other names and addresses.

SINGAPORE

Mint Sets Available

Singapore 1973 Mint sets of six coins — 1 cent, 5 cent, 10 cent, 20 cent, 50 cent and $1 — are available direct from the Mint. Also included with each set is a complete description of each coin and technical data on composition, weight and size. "Symbol of the Ox Year," a brief description of the significance of those born in 1973, according to Chinese tradition, is illustrated.

The Mint sets are offered through pack orders. Each pack consists of five sets and costs $7.50. Postage and insurance is an additional $2.50. Orders must be accompanied by the correct payment and should be made in favor of the Singapore Mint, G.P.O. Box 1334, Singapore.

MYNT 73

An international numismatic fair, MYNT 73, will be held in Helsingborg, Sweden, May 4-6, 1973. The event is arranged in cooperation with the Swedish Numismatic Association and Coin Collections in Copenhagen, Helsinki, Oslo and Stockholm. Coin dealers from Denmark, Finland, Norway, West Germany, Sweden, England, Holland and Switzerland have booked space at the show.

WEST AFRICAN STATES

Commemorative Coin

The West African States Central Bank has had a 500 francs CFA (African Financial Community francs) commemorative coin struck by the Paris Mint in celebration of the 10th anniversary of the application, Nov. 1, 1962, of the treaty of May 12, 1962, which established a Monetary Union among seven nations — Dahomey, Ivory Coast, Mauritania, Niger, Senegal, Togo, and Upper Volta.

The coin is of 900 fine silver, 37 mm. diameter and weighs 25 grams. For legal tender in the seven nations of the Monetary Union, 100,000 coins have been struck. Specially struck for collectors are 2,000 numismatic specimens of fleurs de coins quality.

Specimens may be ordered by sending $5, inclusive of registered parcel delivery, for each set to Monnaie de Paris, 11, quai de Conti, 75270 Paris Cedex 06. Shipment will be made beginning March 15, 1973, in the order in which orders were received. Each subscriber may order several specimens, but the volume of individual orders may be limited, if need be, in order to satisfy the greatest possible number of subscribers. In such cases, the partial reimbursement of sums paid will be made as rapidly as possible. Priority will be given to members of the Club Francais de la Medaille and to regular subscribers to the numismatic issues of the Paris Mint.

ANA 53893 ANA A-56893

Tony and Gladys Trujillo of Daly City, Calif., died Jan. 4 in an automobile accident near Seligman, Ariz.

Mr. and Mrs. Trujillo both were members of the American Numismatic Association. He joined in 1965 and she in 1966. Both of them had served the Daly City Numismatic Society as secretary, club representative and president. Mr. Trujillo was club president in 1969 and 1970. Brigadier George N. Simons
ANA 030116

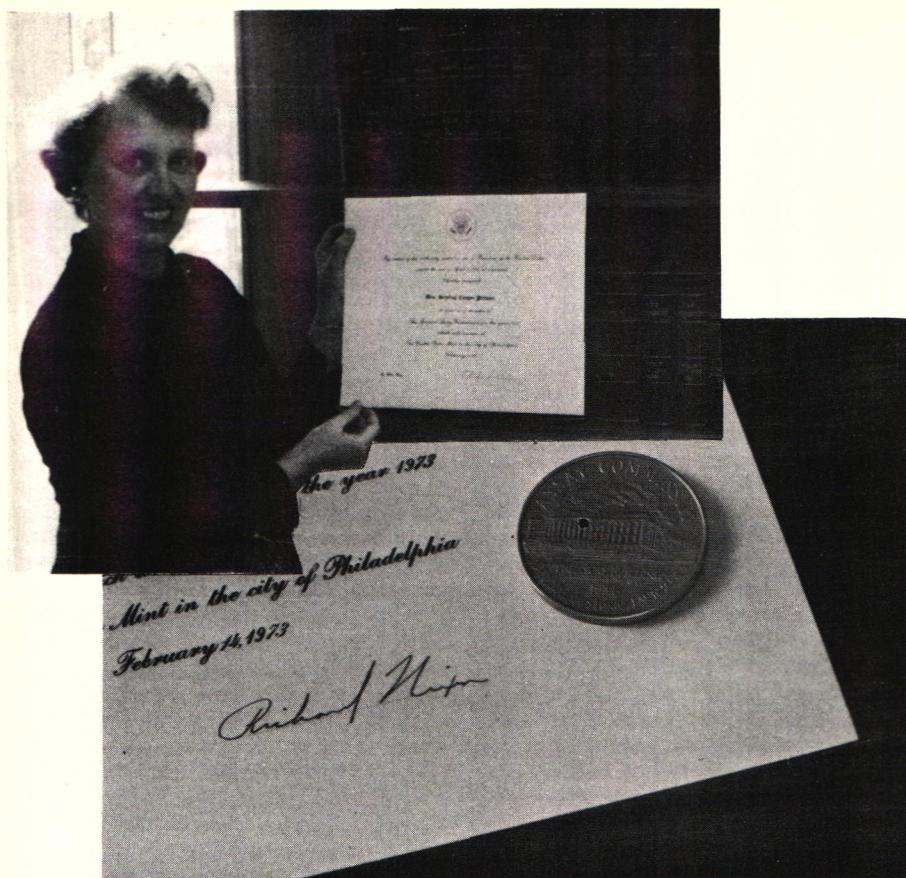

Brigadier George N. Simons, 75, of South Windsor, Connecticut, died Feb. 2. Services were conducted Feb. 5 at Manchester, Conn., by Major Lawrence

Beadle of the Salvation Army Citadel in Manchester. Taps were sounded by Mr. Simons' son, captain William B. Simons.

Mr. Simons was born July 16, 1897. He served 44 years in The Salvation Army, retiring in 1962. Most of his career was spent in the New England States with his final four appointments in all corners of New York State. His final appointment was a nine-year stay in Watertown, New York. On March 26, 1924, Mr. Simons married Alice R. Brunner in Darby, Penn.

A collector of U.S. Proofs, Gold, Canadian coins, Mr. Simons was always interested in helping young people get started in coin collecting.

Survivors include his wife; two sons, George N. Simons, Jr., and Captain William B. Simons; two daughters, Mrs. Alice Kelloway and Katherine T. Simons; a brother and a sister; and five grandchildren.

Mrs. Gehring C. Pittman, wife of ANA President John Jay Pittman, was chosen permanent chairman of the 1973 Assay Commission. She is pictured here with her commission appointment, signed by President Nixon, and the medal presented to Commission members.

Assay Commission Meets

Twenty-one coin collectors — 19 of them members of the American Numismatic Association — met on Valentine's Day in the Philadelphia Mint to count, weigh and assay representative samples of the nation's coinage.

Those named by President Nixon to the 1973 Assay Commission were: Mrs. Dorothy C. Baber of El Cajon, Calif.; Franklin R. Bruns, Jr., of Tacoma Park, Md.; Robert W. Dando of Fort Washington, Pa.; Joseph E. Dinardo of Schenectady, N.Y.; Theodore H. Dindel, Jr., of Keene, N.H.; Donald W. Eastburn of Wilmington, Del.; Harrington Herr of Philadelphia; Walter M. Hollowell of Denver; Brainerd W. La Tourette Jr., of St. Louis; Alfred Sol Lippman of Berwick, La.; Clifford Mishler of Iola, Wis.; Mrs. Virginia M. O'Brien of Swampscott, Mass.; Pierre E. Palmentier of Grosse Point Woods, Mich.; Valentine Pasvolsky of Lakewood, N.J.; Gehring C. Pittman of Rochester, N.Y.;

William Van Roden of Elkins Park, Pa.; and, Paul R. Whitnah of Little Rock, Ark.

Ex officio members included the Hon. Joseph S. Lord III, chief judge, United States District Court for the Eastern District of Pennsylvania, Philadelphia; Hon. William B. Camp, Comptroller of the Currency, Washington; Paul J. Maguire, of New York, assayer, U.S. Assay Office, New York, N.Y.

Chosen as permanent chairman by the other members of the 1973 Commission was Mrs. Gehring C. Pittman of Rochester, N.Y., a high school mathematics teacher and wife of ANA President John Jay Pittman.

Mrs. Pittman said that the telephone call notifying her of her appointment to the commission came to her at the school where she teaches.

"It was just perfect," she said. "One of my boys was operating the switchboard when the call came in. The party calling asked to speak to me and the boy on the switchboard asked someone in the office to check my schedule. They learned that I was in class and the student operating the switchboard told the party calling, 'Mrs. Pittman is in class right now, who is calling, please?' The voice on the other end said 'This is the White House.'"

Mrs. Pittman said that her student operator had to ask for assistance and an adult working in the school office, somewhat suspicious, asked the caller, "Is this some kind of a joke or something?" A very dignified reply was, "I assure you that this is no joke. May I speak to Mrs. Pittman?"

"Someone came to the door of my classroom and asked me in front of the class if I was expecting a call from the White House. Well, I always thought they notified appointees by telegram, but I knew that's what it had to be so I said yes, I was expecting a call from the White House. Later, I explained it all to the students. They were very interested in learning all about the purpose of the committee."

Mrs. Pittman said that the experience was very educational for all her students and, "I think a teacher should be on the commission every year."

The Assay commission followed the "Trial of the Pyx," a ceremony with origins in Ancient Greece, officially begun in England in the 13th century to discourage counterfeiting and bolster public confidence in all coins of the realm by requiring that they be struck in compliance with specific standards.

In 1792 the first United States Assay Commission met in Philadelphia to count, weigh and assay a representative sampling of the nation's first coinage.

At the 1973 meeting, following the selection of Mrs. Pittman as permanent chairman, she appointed the remaining 24 commissioners to the three committees required by the Coinage Act of 1856, under which the Assay Commission functions each year. These are the committees on counting, weighing and assay.

Coins in all denominations were examined, including all metals currently coined. All coins examined were dated 1972. Results of the examinations, as reported by the three committees, consolidated by Chairman Pittman and presented to Mint Director Mary Brooks, revealed that no shortweight or wrong-alloy coinage existed.

The two mint superintendents present, Nicholas Theodore, Philadelphia, and Betty Higby, Denver, were not surprised by the report since the Mint reportedly uses quality control standards in each working day of its operation.

Assay Commissioners traditionally serve without compensation, and pay their own travel and housing costs.

CENTURY OLD NOTES

In the gold valued at $150,000,000 which is being gradually melted and coined in Germany, there are 193,194 ounces of American eagles and 273,159 ounces of gold Napoleons. The American eagles were obtained in England. American Journal of Numismatics, 1873.

NUMISMATIC VIGNETTES

• A little more than 200 years ago a Jew in the Frankfort (Germany) Jewish ghetto was operating a secondhand store, one of the very limited occupations a Jew was permitted to engage in. He became interested in collecting old coins; he studied them and wrote out in elaborate longhand their histories and significant facts about them. Eventually he used his persuasive powers to sell them to wealthy and influential people, in particular to young Prince William of Hesse - Hanau who became Landgrave of Hesse - Cassel in 1785.

As was usual, this Jew had no family name so he took one from the sign on a ghetto house in which his ancestors had lived. It was known as the house with a red shield and so came to be a name that was destined to be known world wide - Mayer Rothschild. Together with his five sons (there were five daughters also), Mayer gradually built up the House of Rothschild to which practically every European monarch became indebted sooner or later.

Mayer Rothschild didn't make much profit on the sale of his old coins but he used them as bait to open doors through which he and his sons made ever larger, and ever more lucrative, financial transactions. From numismatist to the richest and most powerful dynasty the world has ever known is a story entertainingly told by Frederic Morton in The Rothschilds, Fawcett Publications, 95c.

• An outstanding dealer advertised the following recently in a high-quality numismatic magazine: "Semi-Unique 1827 Proof Large Cent N-7." The word "unique" means being the only one of its kind or being without an equal. The prefix "semi-" means, according to the dictionary, a) partly or partially, b) half of, or c) occurring twice within a particular period of time.

Attempts to qualify or modify the word "unique" has long been one of my pet peeves but I leave it to you to tell me what is meant by a semi-unique coin — or a semi-unique anything, for that matter.

• Only he who does nothing makes no mistakes; except that he thus commits the cardinal mistake. A publication recently editorialized (on page 4) on the difficulty of printing unusually spelled names correctly. On page 32 appeared an item with this caption: "New Book Features Coins Shown on Sailing Vessels." No spelling problem but collectors certainly will hope the sailing vessels are small ones if the coins are still attached.

• Have YOU written lately to your representative or senator in Congress, or to their counterparts in your state or local governments about the actions you want them to take regarding laws in force or proposed? Whatever your answer to that question, I believe that too few of us contact our elected representatives as we should. We don't make our wishes and convictions known, and then (frequently) complain that "they" — our representatives — aren't running things right.

The same applies to letting your views and wishes be known to your elected and/or appointed officers of ANA. Try to be reasonable and constructive in your criticisms and suggestions, but be as forceful as you think necessary to be understood clearly. — Glenn S.

Specialist Joins ANACS Team

The latest scholar in a specialized numismatic field to accept an invitation to join the panel of specialists who will contribute their expertise to the ANA Certification Service (ANACS) is Raymond Hu (Hu Kung-lu), collector, writer, and lecturer on the coins of China, both ancient and modern, ANACS Director Charles Hoskins has announced.

Mr. Hu, over the years, has photographed and measured all of the rarities of modern Chinese machine-minted coins, most of which are in his own fabulous collection, and he has in preparation an extensively illustrated and priced book to be titled "Modern Coins of China." Editors who have read the manuscript predict Mr. Hu's book will replace the Kann text, which since 1953, has been the authoritative work on modern Chinese coins.

Hoskins also brought up the problem of collectors who in person want to bring their coins to the Washington, DC, office of ANACS.

Such "in person" visits, Hoskins explained, disrupt and interfere with the regular office and laboratory procedure. Also, he said, usually an immediate examination of such a coin is requested by the visitor, which not only causes such a coin to be examined out of its turn, but also rushes its examination whereas, if the coin had been sent by mail, a more exhaustive study of the coin might have been desirable and would have resulted.

Aside from such a break in the procedural routine, Hoskins added that an insurance problem could present itself in the instance of non-bonded individuals being present in the lab. Each of ANACS' personnel is heavily bonded, and specific security measures are required.

Hoskins said he has suggested to Virgil Hancock, chairman of ANA's authentication committee, that the ANA board authorize an extra charge at the rate of $30 an hour to be made for whatever time is consumed for examination of a coin brought by a personal visit to the ANACS lab.

For those reasons, it is asked that no coins be brought in person to ANACS, but that all coins be sent by insured or registered mail (along with check or money order for the regular basic examination fee, plus the return postage and insurance) to ANACS, Box 87, Ben Franklin Station, Washington, DC 20044.

For coins valued at $150 or less, the basic fee is $6. $151 to $300, the fee is $9. $301 to $500, $12 fee. $501 and above, 3 per cent of the sender's stated value of the coin, but the maximum possible base fee, regardless of how high the coin is valued, is $500. The sender must state the value of his coin, Hoskins explained, and ANACS' insurance responsibility is limited to such stated value.

ANA members are entitled to a 10 per cent discount on all fees.

SAN MATEO, CALIF. 94401

P.O. BOX 169,

James F. Ruddy and Q. David Bowers tell you . . .

How to get the best price for your coins

Considering the sale of your coin collection? James F. Ruddy and Q. David Bowers offer you the finest auction service in the rare coin field today. Consider the advantages that a combined public and mail bid auction by the American Auction Association offers you:

THE BEST POSSIBLE PRICE for your coins will be yours with an American Auction Association sale. Public attendance plus spirited mail bidding from our mailing list of the most active buyers in numismatics will combine to produce the best possible price for your coins—the best results available in the auction market today.

"What Others Say"

When we sold the Armand Champa Collection at public sale, Mr. Champa was so pleased with the results that he did something unprecedented in the annals of numismatic auctions: completely unsolicited by us he placed large advertisements in The Numismatist and other leading publications to thank us for our service:

"Thank you Dave Bowers and Jim Ruddy for the excellent handling of my coins through your American Auction Association. I was very well pleased with your wonderful descriptions of my coins, especially the patterns. The prices realized for my coins nearly doubled the offers I received from other dealers."

Recently another consignor, Dr. Bernard Bressler, of the Duke University Medical Center (Durham, North Carolina), wrote to say:

"I am most appreciative of your sending me the check and the results from your last auction. I am more than satisfied with the proceeds. I want to congratulate you on the beautiful catalogue and the beautiful results."

And, many similar unsolicited comments are in our files.

EXPERT CATALOGUING by James F. Ruddy, Q. David Bowers, and the other professional numismatists on the staff of Bowers and Ruddy Galleries, Inc. You get the experience of our having handled many millions of dollars worth of choice United States and world coins—including many of the finest collections sold in America and Europe in recent decades.

A BEAUTIFUL CATALOGUE will highlight your collection. Important pieces will be illustrated with detailed photographs. The illustrations, layout, typography, and descriptions of the coins will make the catalogue featuring your collection a standard reference for years to come. (Or, if you prefer—as many sellers do—we'll keep your identity strictly confidential.) Your collection will be offered to its best advantage.

CASH ADVANCES AVAILABLE. Generous cash advances toward the amount realized are available. In that way you can have immediate cash right now.

PLUS THESE OTHER ADVANTAGES: We offer competitive commission rates. Insured protection for your collection in secure bank vaults. Complete research facilities for die varieties, rarity ratings, etc. — to assure you of a better price for your coins. Unquestioned financial reputation. Early sale dates now available.

OUR REFERENCES: Over past decades countless American Numismatic Association members have made the right decision and have let James F. Ruddy and Q. David Bowers sell their coins. The Collier Collection, the Fairfield Collection, the Fuller Collection, the Gilroy Collection, the Westwood Collection, the Monroe Collection, the Wilmette Collection, the Armand Champa Collection, the Robert Marks Collection—and the list is virtually endless—have all been handled by us to the complete satisfaction of their owners.

We are Life Members of the Numismatic Association and are members of the International Association of Professional Numismatists, the Professional Numismatists Guild (James F. Ruddy is the recipient of the PNG Distinguished Service Award), and other leading organizations.

Considering the sale of your choice coins or collection? Write or telephone James F. Ruddy or Q. David Bowers today. We will discuss our complete arrangements with you and will answer any questions you may have. If you want the very best price for your choice coins, do as other ANA members have done over the years: have James F. Ruddy and Q. David Bowers sell your coins. Let us include YOUR COINS in the next American Auction Association public sale, an event which we are planning right now.

THINKING OF SELLING?

Texas' leading coin company, Colonial Coins, is in great need of rare coins. Homes & estates in this area are less than 100 yrs. old, so finding old coins is virtually impossible. We are constantly forced to travel & advertise into the world market to supply our collectors. We are also expanding our offices to San Antonio, & we will have many new collectors to satisfy.

All our buyers are anxious for good coins (we just mailed a list to 100,000 collectors). We will pay near retail on immediate cash settlement.

— AREAS OF GREATEST INTEREST —

- (A) USA Gold - Rare date St. Gaudens, Liberty, & Territorial Gold, single pcs. or whole collections. We are interested in silver & copper coins, especially pre-1900 collections, & single coins. We meet, & surpass, all legitimate buy prices.
- (B) Foreign Coins - As the leading dealer in Latin American, & especially Mexican coins, we have many good customers who buy from us exclusively, & we live in foreign countries. Many of them do not read or speak English & rely on us for all their coins. We buy from dealers & collectors, both at retail prices. We also have serious customers for crowns, especially high grade, high value items.

— NEEDED IMMEDIATELY —

- (1) Nice collection of USA gold coins.
- (2) High grade USA type collection.
- (3) Large USA coin collection, including silver $.
- (4) Two fine Mexican collections (gold & silver) 1556 to date.
- (5) One crown collection, including Latin or European coinage.
- (6) Any treasure findings from A to Z.

DOCTOR'S INVESTMENT GROUP

Dr. George Vogt, Pres. of Colonial Coins, & advisor to the Doctor's Investment Group, is still making large investments in USA, and foreign gold in large lots. The investment group is also interested in rolls and bags of silver $, unusual rolls of silver & gold coins, i.e. Unc. "V" nickels by the roll, half dimes by the roll, & proof sets prior to 1940. Please write us about your holdings, & please state prices desired, for the Group's decision.

HOW DO YOU SELL TO US?

- A. Pack up your coins & send them to us via registered mail. Our top offer, in the form of a check, will be returned to you by return mail. We guarantee satisfaction. This is a fast cash settlement for you. We are bonded; Dun & Bradstreet rated; & secured Via Memorial Bank. After obtaining our permission, you may send your coins to our bank.
- B. We also invite you to make an appointment with us for a cash settlement on the spot.
- C. We will travel to you if your collection is too large to ship, or if you live in a foreign country. We travel to Europe & South America, & the Orient. Advise us the size & major rarities of your collection.
- D. Large finder's fee to persons who locate & help us to purchase collections.

We have funds from $1,000 to $1,000,000.

This sale will be one of the outstanding numismatic events of 1973. Plan now to participate — either in person or by mail!

Catalogues of this sale will be mailed in April. Copies of the sale catalogue (including a list of prices realized after the sale) are available by surface mail to any part of the world for $2; or by airmail $5. Request "Terrell Collection" catalogue and send your remittance today.

Planning to attend the sale in person? If so, plan your schedule to include also the "Durham Sale" being held in Los Angeles May 20 and 21 by our friends, the Superior Stamp & Coin Co.

ANNOUNCING A NATION-WIDE BUYING SERVICE

If you are seriously considering selling your collection, we need to buy it. During the past year, our retail sales have increased by over 70%. What does this mean? For us, it means the pleasure of serving you with our continued quality service, and lowest possible prices. For you, which is even more important, (because without you, we would not be here) it means the intrinsic satisfaction of securing another rare numismatic item.

However, in order to satisfy the ever growing numismatic fraternity, we are embarking upon a nation-wide buying service. You will notice that we have stated service. Why? Because it is this company's policy to treat you in the same fair and upright dealings when buying your coins as we use when selling ours. It is for these reasons that we feel our buying service will be something new and innovative for the entire numismatic fraternity.

Here is what our nation-wide buying service provides:

1. Instant cash (confidential, of course, if you wish).
2. Bank references available (contact Mr. Bill Whitsitt at Texas Bank & Trust, One Main Place, Dallas, Texas).
3. Call us collect at 214-748-4044 if you desire to sell a large collection, or you may ship your collection with invoice to Mike Follett Rare Coins, Plaza Level, One Main Place, Dallas, Texas, 75250. Within 24 to 48 hours, you will receive our generous offer by return mail.
Should you decide not to sell, we will return your coins immediately upon hearing from you. Of course, they will be fully insured and we will pay the postage. (During the past year, 82% of those who have sent us coins in this manner have sold their collection). Through this method you risk absolutely nothing.
4. We can be at your bank, home, or office anywhere in the USA within 24 hours of your call provided your collection warrants.

5. We will buy your entire collection, not just the choice material.

6. You will be selling to a coin retailer, not a middle man; therefore, you are assured for the highest possible price.

7. You will be selling to a company backed with 11 years' experience in buying and grading numismatic material. Your coins will be personally evaluated by Mr. Follett before purchase.

8. You will be negotiating with a company well received and respected throughout the numismatic world.

We are in particular need of the following numismatic items: All choice type material, early Bust dollars and Bust quarters in any grade, all key and semi-key coins with a wholesale value of $10 or more, scarce and rare dates in seated quarters or halves, and all USA and foreign gold both rare and common. Without assuming an air or ostentation, this company has marketed twelve coins with a retail value of over $5,000 each during the past year. As an indication of our high buy prices, we are paying above the 1973 Red Book Catalogue for the following items:

All BU Half Dimes From 1794-1837

All BU Dimes From 1796-1838

All BU Quarters From 1796-1838

All BU Halves From 1794-1840

All BU Bust Dollars 1794-1803

1834-1839 Quarter Eagle Gold BU

1854-S Quarter Eagle Gold BU

In closing, it is the goal and purpose of this numismatic enterprise to serve you — the Numismatist. For the thousands of you that have bought from us, we say thank you. For those of you who have sold to us in the past, we encourage you to continue. For those of you that we have yet to meet, we want to know you. Drop us a line and tell us what you have for sale. We feel that our nation-wide buying service will go further in meeting your individual needs than any other buying program offered today.

Thank you.

WANTED TO BUY

We have great confidence in the present coin market and we are showing this confidence by paying Top Dollar for Top Quality coins.

We do not need whizzed or processed coins which only appear to be BU (i.e. Barber Halves advertised at $79.50, Bust Halves at $32.50, etc.), but which in reality are no better than XF or possibly AU.

By the way, to command these prices, the early copper must be Brilliant, and not brown, Unc.

CAYMAN ISLANDS

PROOF SET

2 DOLLARS

1 DOLLAR

25 CENTS

5 CENTS

May 1, 1972 was a big day for the Cayman Islands. On that day, the first four coins of their new national coinage were introduced into general circulation . . . quickly followed by four additional coins, all minted of sterling silver. All of these coins were made available to collectors, for the first time, in the 1972 Cayman Islands Proof Set.

In keeping with their announced plans for a continuing numismatic program for collectors, the Cayman Islands are introducing their 1973 Proof Set. The striking designs of the coins in this set are certain to become classics. A beautiful Cayman Egret flies over an island marsh on the $2 coin while a tiny Thrush perches on a limb on the bronze one cent piece. The Cayman Islands coat-of-arms, with the motto, "He Hath Founded It Upon The Seas", is featured on the 42 millimeter sterling silver $5 coin, and crown collectors will be happy to know that this coin is also available singly this year at the remarkably low price of just $12.75. The 1973 Cayman Islands proof set will be struck at the Royal Canadian Mint in Ottawa thereby assuring you that the quality of the coins will do full justice to the elegant designs they bear.

In addition to their newly established proof set program, the Cayman Islands were also the first country to issue coins commemorating the Silver Wedding Anniversary of Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip. Although these coins ARE NOT included in the 1973 proof set, they are important to you in that they have focused world-wide attention on the coinage of the Cayman Islands, and you, as a proof set owner, are sure to benefit from this interest! (By the way, these $25 commemorative coins are still available and we would be delighted to send you all the details).

The Fountainhead

Of Fine Coins

"The source of Wisdom in coin selecting"

The Fountainhead is a young (comparatively, that is), and energetic firm run by two brothers who are determined to bring the firm to the very top of the Numismatic world, and, more importantly, to stay there.

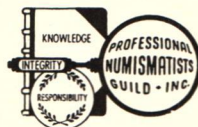

The Professional Numismatists' Guild has the sternest Code of Ethics in the business, and we respect it, and hope it will one day apply to all dealers.

Our specialties are Ancient Greek and Roman, US Type, US Rarities and Crowns of the World. Our store business includes all US coins, mostly in uncirculated condition or close to it; although, on gold and the scarcer pieces, lower conditions are acceptable.

That is what we deal in. But right now, our stock is low, and WE NEED YOUR COINS, and we have the money to pay for them. And, as anybody who has sold to us will tell you, we pay more than any other firm for quality material. We know those words sound like a cliché, but if you try us, you'll see how sincerely they are meant.

There could be no better time for trying us if you have any items for sale; the market is higher than it's ever been for choice material, and the time for profit taking is NOW. Even if you have no coins to sell us, send us your name to be placed on our catalogue mailing list.

O.I.N.

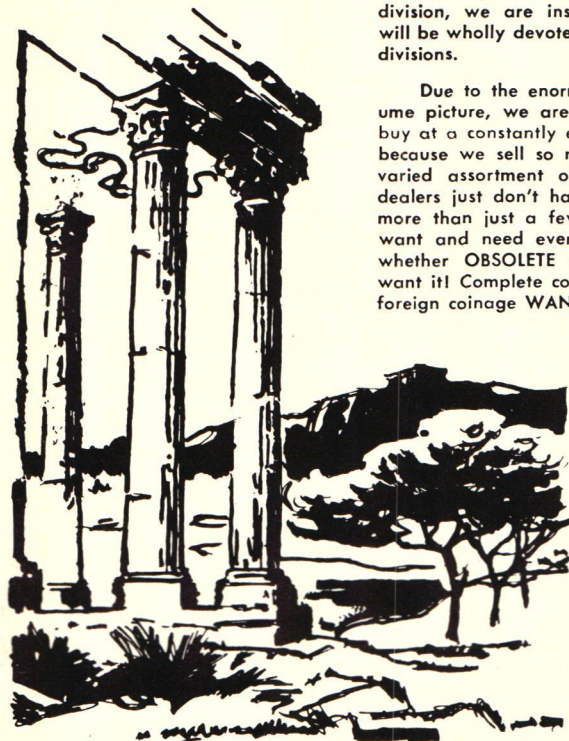

FRIENDS, ROMANS, COLLECTORS SELL ME YOUR COINS!

In conjunction with the expansion of our retail sales division, we are instituting a separate subsidiary which will be wholly devoted to making purchases for our various divisions.

Due to the enormous need generated by our full volume picture, we are placed in the position of having to buy at a constantly escalating rate. We pay so much more because we sell so much more! We can use a wide and varied assortment of numismatic items that most other dealers just don't have the facilities to handle. We want more than just a few choice items in your collection, we want and need everything, whether it is AG or PROOF, whether OBSOLETE or MODERN. If it's collectable, we want it! Complete collections any series, paper money and foreign coinage WANTED. Obviously it is impossible for us to list what we want, because we want almost everything and are willing to pay for it.

To those of you whose holdings are considerable, the above as well as the following should be of prime importance. As a matter of policy we maintain a cash position far and above any of our immediate or long range needs. Therefore we are in a position to handle your collection or accumulation immediately. It's always nice to know when you deal with the Old Roman Inc., you are dealing with principles only.

We now invite you to ship your coins directly to us for IMMEDIATE appraisal and disposition in the form of an airmail check to you which you may either accept or decline. Either ship your coins or write for our most generous offer.

If for any reason we can't come to terms, as always we pay return postage. If it's expeditious or advantageous to either of us, we will of course travel to negotiate the purchase and transfer of your holdings.

All matters are held in the strictest confidence.

AN OPEN LETTER TO FOREIGN COIN DEALERS AND COLLECTORS:

On February 25, 1973 at our Bourse Table at the N.A.S.C. Convention in Los Angeles, we paid a local collector $1000.00 for a Japanese coin known as a Meiwa Go (5) Momme in X.F. condition. Cataloged as Craig U10 it shows a value of from $85.00 to $200.00.

The significance of this purchase is that at that time the latest national coin magazines (March, 1973) carried dealer's buy ads showing the highest buy price by a U.S. dealer to be $150.00 and by a Tokyo, Japan dealer to be $650.00.

This collector learned, as many other dealers and collectors who have visited us at the Major coin shows throughout the United States have learned, that we pay the highest prices for Japanese coins consistent with the current market conditions.

There is one other major advantage in selling to us. We pay quick, confidential cash. In addition, if yours is a major collection, we will pay you in the currency of your choice. That's right, we will pay you in Dollars, Marks, Yen, Francs, Pounds, Kroner, Pesetas, Guilders, whatever — you choose!!!

We buy the following: Japanese coins in all metals both Modern and Pre-Meiji, Choice Crowns of China, Rare Chinese Copper Coins, and all Foreign Gold Coins.

Whether Dealer or Collector, we will endeavor to make it worth your while to contact us regarding your holdings of the aforementioned coins.

Very truly yours,
THE MONEY COMPANY

CLARKE E. GILHOUSEN

C.E. GILHOUSEN

The major portion of the collection to be auctioned during 1973 was formed prior to the turn of the century by C.E. Gilhousen.

Shortly after the Civil War, C.E. Gilhousen, at the age of 12, began his numismatic career. As Gilhousen achieved affluence as a pioneer Los Angeles car dealer his collection expanded and received widespread publicity in major newspapers and numismatic journals.

The Sunday copy of the July 9, 1911 Tribune contained a feature article about Gilhousen under the banner headline "LOS ANGELES MAN OWNS $200,000.00 COLLECTION OF GOLD COINS." His collection is referred to as "one of the finest private collections in the world."

WE THROW AWAY THE BOOK WHEN IT COMES TO BUYING!!

We have no choice. On a rising market, what are catalogue prices to a company whose customers expect it to carry everything in stock? They will pay whatever they have to pay for a coin that is hard to come by. And we will pay whatever we have to pay to get it for them.

Listed below are just a few samples of the high prices WESTERN NUMISMATICS is currently paying for coins. Some of them, you will note, are two and three times Red Book.

Our buying never ends. Our need of numismatic material is always urgent. We will travel anywhere to make a sizeable purchase. And, we have never seen a deal that we couldn't handle on a spot-cash basis (after all, we have the combined resources of the A-MARK Group behind us.)

Right now we especially need large collections and dealer's stocks. But, we need individual coins too — rarities and gem specimens. WESTERN's stock in trade is copper, nickel and silver coins. But if your holding includes foreign or gold coins, don't let that fact deter you from calling on us on our toll-free WATS line. One of the advantages of selling to WESTERN is that we are affiliated with A-MARK, which buys and sells just about everything ever minted.

In 1972, these were some of the superbly crafted commemorative medals struck exclusively for Society members

Join the Medal of the Month Society now — during 1973 enrollment — and receive medals of exacting proof-quality, in Solid Sterling Silver, commemorating

The 12 Great News Events of 1973

A medallion art collection of unique historic significance and investment value—yours to own and display with pride, only if you act during this limited-time subscription opportunity!

The immediacy of history in the making...the enduring beauty of fine art...the heirloom investment value of a limited edition struck in precious metal. Rarely if ever has a single medallion collection embodied all of these important qualities—until now!

It was the express purpose of the Medal of the Month Society, as stated in its Charter, "to record the great events of our time, in art medals of imperishable beauty, to be struck from original artists' and engravers' dies."

In 1972, Founding Members thus had the opportunity to actually participate in history in the making, as they assembled a unique month-by-month chronicle of the outstanding news events of the year, captured almost as they happened in proof-quality commemorative medals superbly crafted from precious metals. And now—for a limited time only—the Society has once again opened its subscription rolls to the general public.

If you accept this one-time invitation to join the Society, you will receive one medal a month for the balance of 1973...twelve medals in all...commemorating the major news event of each month, to be chosen under the guidance of the distinguished editorial board of the Encyclopedia Americana.

An investment in heirloom value

Each medal measures a full 45 millimeters in diameter, struck individually to your order. You may choose to have your medals minted either in brilliant Solid Sterling Silver at a cost of $14.50 per medal...24 Kt. Gold Plate on Sterling Silver at $19.50 per medal...or in antique-finish Bronze at $7.25 per medal.

Whichever series you select, you may be assured of highest numismatic quality as well as potential investment value. This is because the Society has entrusted minting to The Lincoln Mint, one of the world's great private mints. And further, only one medal per month will be struck for each member, with absolutely no multiple orders to be accepted.

As an additional service, the Society guarantees to protect you as a member against any increase in the cost of your monthly medals during the full year of your subscription—regardless of changes in government price regulation or increased cost in the International Metals Market.

This is a limited-time opportunity!

To avoid a delay of a full year or more, please be sure to mail the attached subscription application promptly! From the moment you receive your first medal, we believe you will agree that this is a truly unique opportunity to share in the major news events of our time, as you assemble a collection of enduring investment and educational value for your entire family!

Display album and reproductions of the New York Times included with your medals

Every medal you receive will be accompanied by a reproduction of the front page of the famed New York Times featuring the event that medal commemorates. You are also provided, at no charge, with a handsome portfolio album suitable for the display of both your medal collection and newspaper replica pages.

Events to be selected by distinguished editors of the Encyclopedia Americana

The Editorial Executives of the Encyclopedia Americana form the distinguished jury of experts that will select the great events to be commemorated. Their experienced judgment in evaluating major events in world history will assure the permanent significance of every medal issued to members of The Medal of the Month Society and contribute to its intrinsic value. These editors, whose decisions will turn the news events of the present into heirlooms of the future, are: Editor in Chief, Bernard S. Cayne; Executive Editor of The Encyclopedia Americana, Alan H. Smith; Executive Editor of The Americana Annual, Sal J. Foderaro; Senior Editor of European History, David T. Holland; Senior Editor of Asian and African History, Richard N. Morehouse; Senior Editor of the History of the Americas, Donald R. Young; Senior Editor of Science and Technology, Robert S. Anderson; and Senior Editor of Humanities, Nathan H. Fletcher.

"AMERICAN (Military) INSIGNIA" 1906 by B. Belden-4 plates — New reprint, plus comprehensive list of prices I will pay (spot cash) for most of the items he lists and illustrates plus many others (almost 100 items wanted). Average prices $20.00 to $1,000.00. $2.00 postpaid.

Political Americana - A fascinating, fast-growing, and rewarding hobby. 25 different original presidential election buttons plus 10 pg. illus. catalog listing hundreds other older campaign buttons and tokens, etc. I have for sale

..... $5.00 postpaid
Illustrated Price List alone50c (refundable)

"COLLECTING PRESIDENTIAL CAMPAIGN MEDALS" 1888 by G. Kobbe — New reprint with 50 woodcut illustrations $1.25 postpaid (First Class as is every other item listed on this page).

Always wanted: (Spot cash — no waiting months from auctions). Not afraid of quantity. Just tell me how many and how much or send sample; early presidential election tokens, medals, pre-FDR election buttons. For instance, will pay $15.00 each for any Hoover picture celluloid election button — at least $1.00 each for any Truman name button.

Also wanted: ribbons, badges, ballots (electoral tickets) — especially those with woodcuts — early election posters, broadsides, prints, paintings, (not only of winners but losers like Henry Clay and Douglas), official inaugural medals (not U.S. Mint). Also need glass rectangular brooches with scenes of log cabins, W.H. Harrison, Van Buren, Dog on Safe, or Temple of Liberty — these have pin backs. *Beware, fakes abound in all these items. Indian Peace Medals, Geo. III or Presidential originals only — in solid silver, not silver plated or bronze. Indian steel pipe trade tomahawks, originals only — dug-up ones O.K. No free appraisals. Describe fully; size, cond., scene. Price or send insured-air for cash offer. Also specialize in European, Medieval to 1800 coins in any metal. Ancient Greek coins VF or better or of finest style if in lesser condition. Just price and describe or send insured for cash offer.

DEVALUATION?

Ultimately, devaluation is going to increase the price of foreign coins, if only because they will cost more to import. Perhaps you should consider buying what you need right now, before prices increase. Remember, this is the second devaluation in a year and a half!

Each month, I have a small advertisement in this publication showing a few new arrivals or special items. This month I am devoting the space to a suggestion that you write for my large 30-page Stock List and 12-page monthly list, and look at a lot of items, instead of just a handful. Many collectors may think that a small advertisement means a small stock, but that is not always true. Write for the list and see for yourself — no charge, of course.

Dealers: Write on letterhead for 22-page wholesale list, with many good saleable items per 10 and per 100. Not available to collectors.
